

APPROVED PRODUCTS LIST

Removal and Reinstatement Policy

A product may be removed from the Approved Product List (APL) for noncompliance with the specifications, or the Department of Roads' (DOR) requirements pertaining to the APL.

Products that are removed from the APL shall not be reinstated until the DOR has determined that all specifications and application requirements are met.

A product that is approved on the basis of periodic testing shall be removed from the APL if it fails three (3) consecutive tests, or if it fails four (4) of six (6) consecutive tests.

A product that is approved on the basis of a manufacturer's certification shall be removed from the APL if the manufacturer fails to submit the necessary documents within the required time frame.

The DOR shall be the sole judge in determining if a product meets the required specifications.
